The Repository Diana Cater writes
'Just to remind you that Christmas Cards, Diaries, etc. will only be available this week and next from the Repository. Get yours now whilst stocks last!'

UCM Cake Stall Update Mary Shutt writes
'The Cake Stall last weekend raised £104. This will go towards UCM charities. We think that this was a great effort by all concerned, and many thanks to all for your kind generosity.'

The Parish Christmas Card Once again you have an alternative to sending out Christmas Cards to your friends within the Parish : there is a 'card' on the Notice board at the back of Church which you can sign, conveying your good wishes to one and all – and then place the money you save in the plastic canister nearby, which will go to the childrens' charity which the Parish supports, LET THE CHILDREN LIVE! As ever, it seems to be a very good idea.....

Christmas Mass Times One or two people have already asked about these. Last year, we tried using the Sunday morning Mass times on Christmas morning – 9.0am and 11.0am. But this year I'm inclined to go back to just having one Mass on Christmas morning, at 10.0am. Not least because it probably won't be possible to have music at 11.0am, whereas William has kindly said that he will be available to play at 10.0am. So Christmas Mass times will be 6.0pm on Christmas Eve, Midnight, and then 10.0am on Christmas morning. I hope that this suits everyone.

ADVENT PURPLE

When I put out the purple hangings for the beginning of Advent last Sunday, I thought how nice the church looked. Purple is a dignified colour, 'serious', as I say to the children, and yet one that is rich rather than sad or sombre.

As such, it is ideally suited for this holy season of Advent. The theme of Advent is a serious one – the Coming of Christ, a coming for which we must be ready. Already we have thought about the Coming in Glory at the end of time, when the Christ will conduct the last judgement. And now this Sunday we hear St. John the Baptist urge us to be prepared to meet the Lord – prepared through repentance and amendment. This is a serious call, which all of us must be ready to answer.

But also that hope for the future which we contemplate during Advent is a rich one. The Christ will come in mercy, as well as in judgement, he will come – as we thought last week – as our Liberator. The General Resurrection will take place, and the Kingdom will be inaugurated in its fullness. We await the Coming of the King.

Of course Purple is used not just during Advent (and Lent) ; it is the normal colour for funerals. And again, it is most apt, for there again there is both a seriousness and a richness. Death, and the time of Preparation which follows it (Purgatory) is a serious matter ; but also our future hope, with the promise of the resurrection to eternal life, is a wonderfully rich one. The colour Purple speaks of both these things.

THE PARISH CHRISTMAS LUNCH

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 23rd, 12.30pm
at the Yaxham Village Hall

Tickets go on sale today : as last year, Adults £6,
Children £3 (including present)

Those bringing dishes to share get one complimentary tick per dish.

(If you are bringing a dish, please put it down on the list on the noticeboard ; if you are buying a childrens' ticket, please put down the child's name and age on the other list to be found there)

The lunch will be followed by the traditional BETHLEHEM TABLEAUX, and a visit from santa claus

Found I found the strangest thing on the carpet in the Presbytery dining room yesterday – a hairgrip. I don't think it can be mine.....
